HARMONIOUS ACTION ON THE COMING ROAD BOND ELECTION

County Controller Agrees To Go Along And Help With Program

PROMOTERS PLAN A CAMPAIGN

No doubt now exists as to the holding of the special election on the 17th of June to decide whether or not Washington county will increase its indebtedness to the extent of one million dollars for the building of improved road.

At a meeting held in Washington on Monday at which the County Commissioners, the County Controller and the executive committee of the Good Roads Association were present, the County Controller, who has heretofore been opposed to the plan, agreed to advertise the election and to go along and do all he could in preparing for this election. This means that the objections this official has heretofore made to the proposed bond issue have been removed, and from this time on there will be co-operation and harmony between the county officers on this important project.

The executive committee of the road association was authorized to go ahead and complete its organization and take such steps as might seem desirable to get an expression from the voters on the good roads bond issue proposition. The Association will conduct an educational campaign in behalf of the bond issue and will carry it into every section of the county. The organization is county-wide, with branches in almost every community. At Monday's meeting the following chairmen of committees were appointed:

Finance—Kerfoot W. Daly, Charleroi.

Meetings and Speakers—B. F. Mevey, Jr., of Washington.

Publicity and Statistics—Lee K. Ward, Washington.

Automobiles—T. C. O'Rourke, Washington.

The chairmen have power to add to their committees as they see fit. It is planned to hold group meetings all over the county and to thoroughly acquaint the taxpayers with the situation and the roads program as outlined.

WILL NOT DISCUSS WORKING CONDITIONS

In the dispute between the street car employees and the Pittsburgh Railways company only the matter of pay will be considered by the war labor board, it was announced on Monday. Working conditions were left out of the questions to be discussed before the board upon the insistence of the union representatives. It is specifically mentioned in the articles of agreement that a contract covering working conditions has been signed already by both parties.

SUIT CALLS FOR TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS DAMAGE

The suit recently brought in the county courts against the director general of railroads, operating the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania railroad, by Mr. and Mrs. George Melnyzer for the death of their son at the Lock or crossing, is for ten thousand dollars damage, and not for one thousand as inadvertently stated a few days ago.

THE CENTENARY AN OPPORTUNITY

There was a time when the tribes and nations of the world stood apart. They were separated by barriers such as bodies of water, mountains and deserts. But other conditions contributed to this life of isolation. Human life at that early date was so simple that the tribes and nations of the world did not feel their need of each other. Their whole life was independent rather than dependent. But all has changed. The inventions, together with the needs of our higher civilized life have brought the nations of the world together. We not only do not live apart; we cannot live apart; we stand or fall together.

We must learn the art of living together; for we can no longer live in isolation. The world, whether near or remote, is our environment. We live in vital contact with all peoples. Their ignorance of what human life ought to be becomes our menace. We lead them to the heights of christian civilization, or they lead us back toward barbarism. To make the world safe for democracy and democracy safe for the world is the problem for solution. Our own boys have given themselves to solve this problem. That honor is theirs. Shall we all give ourselves, our time, our money to complete this work? The Centenary is our opportunity. It is ours today.

DRIVER EXONERATED BY CORONER'S JURY

Coroner Heffran held an inquest at the Frye undertaking rooms Monday evening to inquire into the death of Clement Kormut, aged four and one-half years, who was run over by a truck driven by Jasper Rock-sistence of the union representatives, well, at Tenth and Lincoln avenue last Friday. After hearing all the evidence in connection with the case the jury returned a verdict completely exonerating the driver.

Court Shuts Down On Daisytown Jitney Line

Mike Kuricz, of Coal Centre, upon petition of the Public Service Commission of the state, has been temporarily restrained, pending final hearing, from the operation of a motor vehicle bus line, a common carrier, until he has obtained consent from the plaintiff commission as provided by law. On October 7, 1918, complaint was made that the defendant was operating, as a common carrier, a motor vehicle, without having applied for and received the approval of the

ENGINEERS' MASCOT WILL BE RETURNED

Hopes are now being entertained for the recovery of the mascot, "Dutch," of the Fifteenth Engineers, which was lost at Hoboken, N. J., after coming to this country on the U. S. S. Chicago. The dog was assigned to Thomas Conti, a member of the Fifteenth Engineers for shipment, and it has been learned from the insurance company with which the dog was insured that the mascot was taken back to France by the chef of the warship. The mascot will be shipped back to this country immediately and it is hoped that no further trouble will be had in getting the valued dog here.

GIRL DROWNED AT LOCK NO. 5

Nora Clark, aged 18, who was missing her mother as cook on the U. S. Engineer quarter boat at Lock No. 5 Brownsville, is believed to have been drowned Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock. It is believed that while she was passing from one room to another on the outer guard of the boat she fell overboard. Finger prints were found on one of the barges of the fleet. Her presence was not missed until about 15 minutes after she was drowned. Government diver Hebel, who is doing the diving work on the repair work at Lock 5 immediately donned his suit and made a thorough search at the bottom of the river above the dam but no trace of the body could be found. It is thought that probably the body was carried over the dam. Miss Clark joined her mother on the boat about a week ago, going to Brownsville from Charleroi.

We have been experiencing some of those rare days in May, in which old J. P. stays off the job. For these few we are duly thankful.

TO PASS ON GREENE COUNTY RAILROAD

The Public Service Commission has taken the papers in the application of the Morgantown and Wheeling Railroad for approval of incorporation for the purpose of building a railroad from Waynesburg to the state line of Pennsylvania and West Virginia at Roberts Run. It is probable that further proceedings will be taken, as representatives of interested persons were in Harrisburg the day the application was presented. Greene county railroad applications have been more or less productive of controversies before the commission.

Dear Sir:—I notice in your issue of Friday, May 16th, that meetings of an anarchistic nature were being held in Donora on a vacant lot over the Borough line on Sunday afternoon. It is true that meetings are being held on a vacant lot and outside the Borough on Sunday afternoons at 3 P. M., but it is not true that said meetings have any affiliations with any of the Un-American tendencies. Those meetings are conducted under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor. It is the same old story repeated. Just as soon as a working man get together to organize, a certain element brands the leaders as Anarchists, Bolshevists or I. W. W's. It is further stated in your paper that the business men of Donora sent word to certain organizers that their room was better than their company. This also is not true. The facts are that the organizer appeared before the business men of Donora, at their request, and they treated said organizer cordially and after an explanation of the aims and object of the American Federation of Labor some of the business men of Donora were inclined to favor granting the best hall in town to the organizer. The majority of course, feared for

KISS COSTS MERCHANT THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS

The price of a kiss was fixed at $300 by Judge J. A. McIlvaine, when he sentenced Israel Schalet, a merchant of Bentleyville, convicted last week of simple assault upon Helen Check, a young girl who worked in his store. Schalet, the testimony showed, made advance to the girl by kissing her. She resented his familiarity and subsequently a prosecution was brought against Schalet and the jury found him guilty. Schalet must pay the fine of $300 and the costs or spend three months in jail. Counsel for Schalet asked for a parole.

CENTENARY FUND SHOWS BIG INCREASE

The Centenary drive of the Methodist Episcopal church in the districts surrounding Pittsburg is going fine, and reports up to this morning indicate that in two days the solicitors have almost reached the half-way goal and are still going strong. The campaign is to close next Sunday, with a special day designated for Thursday, when all teams will redouble their efforts to get in touch with those who have not yet been seen. A telegram to The Mail this morning from the Pittsburg headquarters of the Centenary Fund says:

Pittsburg, Pa., May 20—Revised reports from the 12 districts in the Pittsburg area show to the credit of the Methodist Centenary Fund at 8 o'clock this morning, $3,202,918 against the area quota of $7,500,000. Reports from the Pittsburg Conference districts are: Allegheny county, $826,653; Beaver Valley, $79,253; Butler group, $77,900; McKeesport, outside Allegheny county, $121,982; Blairsville, $256,787; Blairsville, $256,787; Washington, $144,900.

To Meet in the First Church at Washington on 5th and 6th

SPLENDID PROGRAM PREPARED

Sunday school workers will assemble in the First Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa., Thursday and Friday, June 5 and 6, in the twenty-fourth annual convention, which is expected to be one of the most interesting and helpful gatherings ever held by the association in this county.

Invitations and suggestions have been sent out to all the Sunday schools which are members of the Association, to send representatives to this meeting which it is anticipated will be most helpful to all workers in this field. The convention motto will be—"Building—A workman that needeth not to be ashamed."

Among the suggestions given to schools are, that schools are limited to three official delegates; that the real leaders of the schools are the ones who should be sent; what shall it profit us if we have a great convention and the superintendent is not present to hear; a delegate can only give a second-hand impression.

Those who expect to attend the convention as delegates are requested to send their names to Mrs. Flo Foster, Muncie, box 233, Washington, Pa., that proper reservation may be made.

Many prominent speakers have been secured for the convention, among them being Mrs. Margaret White Eggleston, professor of religious education in Boston University School of Religious Education and Social Science;

The Rev. Edward Babcock, D. D., minister of the First Baptist church of McKeesport, and who was prominent in Sunday school work both in Wisconsin and New York; W. D. Reel, of Philadelphia, state field workers Pennsylvania State Association.

Mrs. G. H. Thomas, of Monessen, Westmoreland County Children's Division Superintendent.

Miss Frances Cooper, Monongahela, County Superintendent Children's Division superintendent.

The session will open Thursday forenoon, with session the same afternoon and evening and morning, afternoon and evening sessions on Friday, the 6th. The closing theme will be "The Sunday School and the New Democracy."

A social will be held at the Lock Four schools Wednesday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. The social will be under the auspices of the schools.

FIRST CLEAN UP THE MESS

British Major's Attitude on the War
Typical of Most of the Soldiers
"Over There."

Generalship, I heard a chief of staff at the front once say, is three-quarters a knowledge of the mood, the condition and the character of your men. For a week I traveled the British front with a grizzled major of a Highland regiment, who had been in the game since 1914. We lunched one day with a mingled group of field and intelligence officers, a Belgian on liaison work, and a visiting French captain. The talk, which was chiefly upon specialties beyond the range of war, made one fact evident—the world of civilian life was more interesting than ever before to these men. They were passionately desirous to get back, to "clean up the mess" there, to go on with their broken careers.

"How do you stay so keen on your job here," I asked the major, afterward, "when you are more weary of war than they are at home?"

He flushed a little, British fashion. "Have to clean up this mess, first," he answered.

A week later one of the most lovable boys I have ever known (he was killed a month later) stood by his Newport of the American front, talking to me before a fight.

"I don't think much of the danger," he said, "though I don't forget it. It's all part of the game."—Harper's Magazine.

GERMANY WITHOUT A FRIEND

Nation Stands Alone in the World,
Seemingly With No One to Mourn
for Her.

One cannot help wondering what could have been the emotions of the German agents in Spain when they read the dispatch sent by King Alfonso to President Poincaré. Those agents have worked hard through all these years of the war and spent money lavishly to make and keep Spain the friend of Germany. They can claim with some show of truth to have kept her neutral, but now, in the day of Germany's humiliation, she gets no sympathy from the Spanish king. Instead, he telegraphs to the French president enthusiastic congratulations on the victory of the allies, and calls the result achieved the reaching of "the end of this glorious epoch of the French army and nation, which have shown us all," he adds, "what bravery and patriotism mean."

Alfonso says "us all," and no Spaniard protests, so they must join not only in the king's felicitation of Germany's enemy but also in the implied denial that Germany has shown anybody what bravery and patriotism mean.

Another failure, therefore, must be scored against German diplomacy and propaganda. Is it the hundredth or the thousandth?—New York Times.

America's Tin Industry

While the United States has attained a commanding position in the tin plate export trade, it by no means equals that which England had before the war. Data show that while our exports of tin plate have grown from 57,500 tons in 1913 to more than 233,000 tons in 1917, they even now are less than 50 per cent of England's before the war, and only 35 per cent more than that country's present exports.

Will this country ever have a tin industry of its own? asks the Philadelphia Inquirer. The American tin-melting industry is still in the childhood stage. Ore supplies in Bolivia, in South America, are believed to be large, but Bolivian producers are finding conditions here unsatisfactory for doing business. Only the future can tell whether any relief is possible from this source.

The old Romans and still older Celts have left their traces thickly strewn in the place-names of the country through which the victorious allied armies advanced during the latter part of the war. Valenciennes was named after the Roman emperor, Valentinian, just as Orleans was named after Emperor Aurelian. (The mark of the Celt is seen in the duo, or fortress, of the ever-famous Verdun, and, though now contracted out of existence, in the towering old city of Lyon, the stronghold of the Merovingians. The River Mense, perhaps the river most connected with war, has the most peaceful of names. Mense being Celtic for the River of Meadows.

The fame of Whittier's poem, "Barbara Frietie," has swept to China, where school children in Hongkong are interested in the native town of the heroine of the poem. The Chinese boys have read the poem and now desire information and a picture of the town. Reverend Mr. Bird of the Ellis Kadoorie school, Hongkong, has written to Mayor Lewis H. Friley asking for a picture postal card of the town. The mayor has sent one of the centennial memorial books.—Baltimore News.

Musical Authority Places Stamp of Approval on Centenary Trombone Choir of M. E. Celebration

A WONDERFUL organization of 100 trombone players, to be heard in concerts of sacred, semi-sacred and patriotic numbers, is to be one of the outstanding features of the Methodist Centenary Celebration at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. At first this unusual musical organization was not taken seriously by musical authorities. Investigation, however, stifled all criticisms and turned doubt into enthusiasm. The picture shows Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley of Western College for Women, Oxford, O., composer of "New England Symphony," "Pilgrim's Progress" and other orchestral compositions of world fame, congratulating

Frank M. Sutphen, director of the trombone choir on his great success. Dr. Kelly at once arranged to furnish some special scores for the trombone choir. On the left of Mr. Kelley is Hermann Beilstedt of Cincinnati, a bandmaster of national reputation, who was also amazed at the work of the trombone choir. "Not trombone spoken so wonderfully," he says. Between Mr. Beilstedt and Mr. Sutphen stands H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Centenary Celebration, who is the father of the trombone choir idea and who had faith in it, before the musicians themselves

WHY COLUMBUS WAS MADE CENTENARY CITY

Has Largest Percentage of Methodists in the World.

What brought the Methodist Centenary Celebration to Columbus, June 20 to July 13, is the question in the minds of a great many Methodists and non-Methodists throughout the United States and elsewhere.

When H. B. Dickson was chosen organizing director of the celebration by the joint commission of the Methodist Church South and the Methodist Church North, he immediately set about to find the most suitable place for the greatest event of its kind ever held—a city which could take care of the 250,000 persons who would come to this gathering, and one which was so located that it could be most easily reached by the people most concerned.

Mr. Dickson made a tour of a number of the principal cities of the United States, including Washington, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and others of that class. He came back by way of Detroit, where he received instructions to go over the same territory again, stopping at cities that had not been visited before. On the way Mr. Dickson stopped at Indianapolis. Indianapolis tried to interest him by showing him the Indiana state fair grounds. This gave Mr. Dickson an idea, but he was not satisfied. Previously he had not considered the possibility of utilizing buildings such as constitute the equipment of a state fair grounds.

Next he came to Columbus, where he found the state exposition grounds, and he was captivated at once. "There is nothing like these accommodations anywhere in the United States," he said. But this was not enough to persuade the combined board of dignitaries of the two churches most interested. Then it was up to him to get an argument that would convince the bishops, district superintendents and others in authority in the churches.

Mr. Dickson began to draw circles around the cities of any size in the United States, to find out where the Methodists were to be found. In this way he discovered that there were more Methodist churches with 1,000 members and over in the city of Columbus than in any other city in the world. He also found that there were 100,000 Methodists living within two hours' ride of the city of Columbus, and more than 1,000,000 within a three-hour ride of the city; 3,000,000 Methodists within an over-night's ride of the city.

With reference to the Methodist Church South, it was found that there was no city the size of Columbus, even including Baltimore, Washington and Cincinnati, within an equally convenient railroad distance to as large a proportion of their membership as Columbus.

These facts laid before the joint Centenary commission settled all arguments and determined definitely on Columbus as the site for the Methodist Centenary Celebration in June and July.

AGED MINISTER LIKES TO GO AUTOMOBILING

Will Attend Methodist Centenary
Celebration June 20-July 13.

REV. ALBERT VOGEL
Aged Minister to Attend Methodist
Centenary Celebration.

Rev. Albert Vogel of Geanette, Pa., at the age of 102 is praying every day that his life may be spared to enable him to be present at the Methodist Centenary celebration which will be in Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13.

Entering the ministry before the age of 25, he has occupied the pulpit for more than 80 years. In the early sixties he was pastor in Bucyrus, where he established lifelong friends. When 100 years old he visited that city, the event being the laying of the cornerstone of the Methodist church.

The centenarian has a keen sense of humor and believes in practicing some of the health rules as set forth by Dr. Charles Barker, the national health expert. Vogel looks like a man of 60 and his hearing and sight are unimpaired. His step, too, in spite of his old age, is firm and steady. All of these things he attributes largely to long walks and early rising.

SHOULD REGISTER EARLY

Visitors to Methodist Centenary to Be Well Cared For.

The one plea of H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Methodist Centenary to Methodists North, South, East and West, is that visitors register early. The registration fee is $5 for an individual or $10 for a family, including all members under 21. Registration covers admission to the exposition grounds each day of the celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13, and it also secures the services of the Methodist Celebration housing committee.

"There is no use minding matters," says Mr. Dickson. "Those who register earliest will get the best services and best accommodations. We are trying to provide for an eleven-hour rush, but it is never so satisfactory to work under those conditions as when people take matters in their hands early enough to get good attention."

RESIDENT HAS AWFUL

EXPERIENCE

"I was twice confined in hospitals in the last one nothing but gruel water was injected into me 4 times a day, as my stomach would not retain any food. I suffered terribly; was reduced to a skeleton. My folks saw an ad of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has surely saved my life. I weigh 180 lbs. now." SOME IMPROVEMENT IN COAL BUSINESS

Coal operators in the Pittsburgh district say the two hitherto dormant factors in the post-war coal situation—labor and transportation—are threatening to become the dominant influences in a new and troublous state of affairs. A slow demand, the third and final determining condition in the market in the past few months, is still directing the trend of operations, but buying is becoming a trifle more general and the market may soon cease to be slow.

The coal market has been able to maintain prices in the face of a very slow market, which is a most encouraging feature to operators. Reports for the second week of this month show production in the Pittsburgh district has increased to about 69 per cent of capacity.

One thing operators fear to a certain extent is the fact that so many men of foreign birth and who were employed in the mines, are returning to their native lands. This is apt to create a shortage in the labor market when the demand for coal shall increase, which it will eventually. Transportation features are also troublesome and while there is not what can be called a scarcity of cars, there is difficulty in getting the kind shippers must have to market their coal.

WILL IMPROVE FIVE PIECES OF HIGHWAY

The County Controller having agreed to act in harmony with the county commissioners on the road improvement program, advertisements have been issued for the improvement of five pieces of highway in the county which the commissioners approved for several weeks ago, and which they asked the controller to advertise. Stating there was not enough money available in the county treasury to take care of the work the controller refused. Now being assured of township co-operation and the funds assured the work will be put under contract. Among these roads is the Beallsville-Zollarsville stretch, 1.1 miles in length. The other pieces are in the northern and western end of the county.

As an institution for turning out heads of schools Charleroi High is in a class by itself. Four men selected from among its faculty in recent years for such positions is not bad record. Moreover, it shows that our board of education is highly successful in picking winners.

COMPANY "A" WILL BE HOME THURSDAY

Monongahela now expects the members of Company A to arrive home not later than Thursday. A telegram from Capt. Gee received on Monday, says the Company will be mustered out on Wednesday and that the men will start home just as soon as the necessary arrangements for transportation can be made. The local committee at Monongahela has arranged to meet the men with a band and escort them to Seventh street, where their relatives and friends will meet them. Next week the town will hold its big demonstration in honor of all returned soldiers, whether they served at home or abroad. The town is being profoundly decorated and will be brilliantly illuminated for the occasion.

NO "MOVIES" FOR SCHOOL TRUANTS

By a vote of 26 to 13 the State Senate at Harrisburg on Monday night passed the Leiby bill, prohibiting children between the ages of 8 and 14 years of age from attending motion picture shows during school hours unless accompanied by a parent or a responsible adult, or unless the children has a written permit from his or her teacher. In many districts of the State, it was reported, children play truant and keep themselves under cover in the movies. The bill permit truant officers and other school officials to enter the movies to search for truants.

An eastern barber displays the following sign—"Satisfaction or whiskers refunded." Can you beat it?

Little Edward disliked to attend school, so one morning he thought he would play off sick. "What is the matter with you, Edward?" asked his mother. Not knowing a whole vocabulary of ailments to select from, on the spur of the moment he replied, "Why, my teeth itch."

What Wealth Cannot Purchase.
Though one may inherit acres, an education cannot be inherited. The wealthy man may pay others for doing his work for him; but it is impossible to get his thinking done for him by another, or to purchase any kind of self-culture.

White Chocolate.
A Swiss product which is said to have greater food value than the brown sweet chocolate of America is white chocolate. It is made of cocoa butter, and either sugar or dried cream. It is smooth, glossy, and rather attractive in appearance.

His Ultimate End.
The children were discussing a famous soldier, when four-year-old Benny asked: "Who is he, anyway?" "Well," replied wise first-grade Harold, "he's a wonderful brave man now, after awhile he'll be a statue."

"THE SPIRIT OF MEMORIALS"
As the spring blossoms into summer we feel, some of us, the absence of those dear ones who have passed to "the beyond." We miss their laugh- ter, their kindnesses, their caresses. Ought we not give actual expression to the loving remembrance in which they are held?

The custom of marking their rest- ing places is as old and as beautiful as the old, old world itself.

We cannot honor our loved ones more, nor perpetuate their memory more effectively, than by the erec- tion of a monument. Properly carved, by a master artisan, such a mem- orial is a lasting tribute to our af- fection for them.

Is there not some one whose mem- ory deserves this recognition from you?
